DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group 1, claim(s) 1-2, 4-11, and 31-33 drawn to a large storage system of viable somatic stem and/or progenitor cells, which comprises a solid support comprising the stem and/or progenitor cells.

Group 2, claim(s) 3, 14, 21, drawn to a method of treatment of a disease or a disorder of a patient, comprising thawing tissue comprising somatic stem and/or progenitor cells or thawing isolated stem and/or progenitor cells from patients.

Group 3, claim(s) 22-30, drawn to a method for the preservation of viable postnatal stem and/or progenitor cells for use in a method of treatment of a disease or a disorder of a patient.

Group 4, claim(s) 12-13 drawn to a plurality of viable somatic stem and/or progenitor cells, and information of a patient from which the cells have been taken, the cells may also express a heterologous gene sequence.

2. The inventions listed as Groups 1-4 do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The instant Groups 1-4 share the technical feature of a population of stem cells, and further wherein information regarding the patient from which they are taken. This technical feature does not make a contribution over the prior art, for example Gahrton et al. teach the collection of bone marrow stem cells, i.e. somatic stem cells, by the World Marrow Donor Association (WMDA). This reference also describes the activities of the WMDA which includes the development of organizations that regulate registries and collect information about its donors. Thus, the technical relationship shared among these groups do not make a contribution over the prior art.

3. Furthermore, as per 37 CFR § 1.475(b) the instant claims are drawn to multiple products and multiple methods. See 37 CFR § 1.475(b)-(d): "[A]n international or a national stage application containing claims to different categories of invention will be considered to have unity of invention if the claims are drawn only to one of the following combinations of categories:

- (1) A product and a process specially adapted for the manufacture of said product; or
- (2) A product and process of use of said product; or
- (3) A product, a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and a use of the said product; or
- (4) A process and an apparatus or means specifically designed for carrying out the said process; or
- (5) A product, a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and an apparatus or means specifically designed for carrying out the said process.

(c) If an application contains claims to more or less than one of the combinations of categories of invention set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, unity of invention might not be present.

(d) If multiple products, processes of manufacture or uses are claimed, the first invention of the category first mentioned in the claims of the application and the first recited invention of each of the other categories related thereto will be considered as the main invention in the claims, see PCT Article 17(3)(a) and § 1.476(c).

4. Therefore, in the instant case, as per CFR § 1.475(d), since the instant claims are drawn to multiple categories of invention, i.e. the claims recite multiple patentably distinct products and methods, the instant claims are considered to lack unity of invention.

5. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

6. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

7. In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
